

LHODOS PROJECT BIO

Lhodos Project is an electro-jazz fusion ensemble bridging New York and Istanbul through a distinctive sound shaped by contemporary jazz, electronic textures, and Mediterranean influences.

Formed at The New School of Jazz and Contemporary Music, the group features Ian Arsintescu (alto/soprano saxophone), Hana Igarashi (piano/synths), Berk Feyiz (electric guitar), and Alican Bekoğlu (drums). Their music balances spontaneity, collaboration, and a bold yet restrained approach to composition and improvisation.

Lhodos Project regularly performs at Nublu in New York and has also appeared at Drom, as well as the Istanbul Jazz Festival at Komünite, Pür Cunda Artist Residency, and 251 Akra Jazz in Turkey. With their debut EP set for release in September 2026, the band creates a unique soundscape through their surroundings that connects their influences, cultures, and creative worlds.